TREMENDOUS SENSATION IN BRITISH PARLIAMENT

HOUSE OF COMMONS SHAKEN BY UNPRECEDENTED SCENES

ATTACK ON THE PREMIER

MADE BY LIBERAL LEADER WHO MOVES ADJOURNMENT TO DISCUSS MATTER.

PANDEMONIUM FOLLOWING

Alfred Lyttleton and Winston Churchill Shouted Down and New Rule is Enforced for First Time.

LONDON, May 22.—In the House of Commons to-day Premier Balfour, in replying to questions on the subject, said he did not consider himself pledged to inaction in regard to the colonial preference, except so far as parliamentary action was concerned. He reiterated that the Government did not intend to deal with the fiscal question in the present Parliament. The matter of colonial preference might, however, be submitted to a colonial conference in 1906, even though the country had not previously had an opportunity of expressing an opinion on the subject. The decision of the conference, however, would not be binding either on the mother country or on the colonies without legislative action.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, charged Mr. Balfour with violating the pledge he had made in his Edinburgh speech, and moved the adjournment of the House to discuss the matter.

The debate on Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's motion came up at the night session and was marked by scenes of the wildest disorder. The Liberal leader demanded a plain answer from Premier Balfour and Alfred Lyttleton, Secretary of the State for the Colonies, rose to reply. The members of the opposition drowned the efforts of the Secretary with cries of "Balfour, Balfour." After continuing for about ten minutes Mr. Lyttleton sat down. Winston Churchill then attempted to speak but the ministerialists drowned his efforts, the Nationalists joining in the din and shouting for the police.

PREMIER PROTESTS.

After a number of members had failed to secure a hearing the Premier rose to a point of order and a temporary lull followed. Mr. Balfour said he thought it highly improper that he should be immediately expected to follow the leader of the opposition. He said he had never before known the opposition to refuse to hear a minister and he insisted that the House should hear Lyttleton, as otherwise the dignity of the House could not be maintained.

Mr. Lyttelton again made an attempt to speak, but the uproar was renewed. Finally the speaker said it was obvious that the scene could not continue, and he would therefore adjourn the House under the rules empowering the Speaker to take such action in cases of grave disorder.

The Speaker had been unable to secure even a semblance of order after howls and counter howls lasting over an hour.

The action of the Speaker and the scenes in the House created a tremendous sensation in the lobbies, which were crowded with members discussing every phase of the evening's occurrences, which were declared to be unprecedented. The galleries were filled with peers and other distinguished persons who gathered in the hope of hearing an interesting debate on the fiscal question. They took part in the cries for their favorites, thus adding to the din, and afterwards joined the excited crowds in the lobbies.

PARTIAL CAUSE.

To-night's unprecedented and undignified scenes grew to some extent out of the Balfour-Chamberlain controversy with the addition of heat engendered on the opposition side by the Premier's alleged breach of his pledge not to deal with the subject of colonial preference without first appealing to the country. The members generally were in feverish expectation that the debate would indirectly provide the terms of Mr. Balfour's answer to Mr. Chamberlain's compromise proposals. It was also anticipated that Mr. Chamberlain himself would make an important speech on the fiscal question. Then when Secretary Lyttleton was put up to speak, instead of Mr. Balfour, a storm burst such as has not been seen in the House of Commons since the days of the Gladstonian Irish debates.

The opposition interpreted the Government's course as an attempt to stifle discussion, although moderate members admit that Mr. Balfour's attitude was perfectly correct. The Premier himself, in appealing to the House to permit Mr. Lyttleton to speak, maintained that he (the Premier) was "a prisoner in the dock" and ought not to be put on his defense until he had read the accusation against him.

Except when Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman taunted him with being the sole cause of the disorder and Mr. Balfour flashed rather an angry reply, the Premier was most composed throughout the sitting.

FLUSHED BUT IMMOBILE.

Mr. Littleton also showed the greatest self-possession in his difficult position. Standing at the treasury table, flushed but immobile, times out of number he essayed to speak, always beginning,

"The Prime Minister," and always being shouted down with cries of "Balfour, Balfour," "Let him defend himself," "Let him fight his own battles," etc.

Whenever the storm showed signs of subsiding the Irish members joined in, helping the hub bub until finally the Deputy Speaker, for the first time, put in force one of the new rules adopted by the present Parliament, empowering the Speaker in cases of grave disorder to adjourn the House.

The Liberal leaders afterwards held a conference and it is expected that a vote of censure on Premier Balfour will be moved to-morrow by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman.

To Defer Dissolution.

LONDON, May 23.—It is understood that a colonial conference will meet in London early in 1906 as an outcome of the agreement arrived by the last conference that periodical meeting of Colonial Premiers should be held in London for the purpose of discussing imperial matters.

The Liberal papers this morning interpret Premier Balfour's remarks in the House of Commons as showing that some sort of compact has been arrived at between him and Jos. Chamberlain to defer the dissolution of Parliament until next year.

Mr. Chamberlain himself dined with his supporters last night. He remained in precincts of the Commons, but did not enter the house during the scene.

CRAZY NEGRO'S WORK

KILLED ONE MAN AND WOUNDED SEVEN OTHERS IN A DAY.

BARRICADED IN HIS HOUSE

Bob Shaw, After Creating Trouble at Waitman, Ky., Defies Arrest and Does Deadly Work Among a Posse That Tried to Capture Him.

OWENSBORO, Ky., May 22.—Bob Shaw, a negro, supposedly insane, has killed one man and wounded seven in the past twenty-four hours, near Waitman. The body of the dead man lies in front of Shaw's house and the negro continues to defy the officers, who are seeking to arrest him. Wm. C. Brown, a Deputy Sheriff, was killed and the wounded are: Deputy Marshal John J. Jackson, Dr. G. H. Plitt, Town Marshal Watson, James Ford, John Robinson, Frank Howard and Watson Pelly.

It is probable the house will be burned in an effort to arrest the negro.

Yesterday afternoon Shaw was terrorizing the community around Waitman and an appeal was sent to this city for help. A posse was at once formed, but as soon as they approached the madman's house he opened fire on them.

Town Marshal Watson was shot in the face and Deputy Marshal John J. Jackson in the back. Others wounded were: Dr. G. H. Plitt, on the hand; a boy named Howard and a boy named Pelly, in the legs.

This morning a posse headed by Sheriff Kelly went from Lewisport to Waitman and found Shaw sitting on his front porch. Shaw quickly barricaded himself in his house. The posse tried to storm the house, but the negro opened fire, wounding James Ford and John Robinson. He apparently had only small shot, which saved the lives of those he shot at. Shaw was shot at twice. He had two revolvers, but announced that he would save them for work at close quarters. A great crowd gathered around the house, keeping at a safe distance.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon Will C. Brown, a Deputy Sheriff of Hancock County, volunteered to go to the house and take Shaw. When within fifteen feet of Shaw, the crazy man fired, blowing Brown's head completely off.

The body now lies at the door of the house and cannot be recovered.

The burning of the house is being discussed by the police and posse and this will probably be done.

Burned Him Out.

OWENSBORO, Ky., May 22.—About 6 o'clock to-night a mob of men and boys surrounded Shaw's house and set it on fire. Shaw remained in the burning house as long as he could stand the heat and finally leaped out and tried to escape. Nearly 100 shots were fired and Shaw's body was riddled with bullets.

CHIEFS OF POLICE

International Association Meets in Annual Convention at Washington. Steady Growth.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The International Association of Chiefs of Police met in its twelfth annual convention here today with about 200 delegates in attendance. Maj. Richard Sylvester, of this city, President of the organization, delivered his annual address and reviewed the history of the organization, and was pleased to record its steady growth in membership and influence so that at the present time, he said, police co-operation throughout the world was more prompt and thorough than ever before. Among the important recommendations made in the report was one providing that the National Bureau of Criminal Identification, which is now operated at private expense, be conducted by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, who have indicated a willingness to assume the affairs of the bureau and afford identifications and information to legally constituted police departments free of expense, provided the police departments of the various cities contribute photographs and measurements in return for the service rendered.

ROGER WILLIAMS HAS ANOTHER BIG FIRE LOSS

FOUR STORY DORMITORY BUILDING AT COLORED UNIVERSITY BURNS.

BREAKS OUT AT NIGHT

TWO OCCUPANTS HAVE A CLOSE CALL, JOE D. AVENT BEING SLIGHTLY INJURED.

SCHOOL RECENTLY CLOSED

But for This, a Second Rust Hall Disaster Might Have Been Enacted—Is Second Loss Since First of Year.

Roger Williams University, one of the oldest colored institutions of learning in this section, suffered another heavy loss by fire on Monday night. Shortly before midnight the four-story dormitory was discovered to be in flames. The university is located two miles on the Hillsboro turnpike, and there was no means of stopping the progress of the flames after they had once gained headway. The amount of the loss is not known, but the building probably cost $20,000 or $25,000. The trustees in New York look after the insurance.

The main building of the university was destroyed by fire several months ago, and the dormitory building was the only large structure remaining on the grounds. Practically all of the contents, consisting of furniture, was destroyed. Since the first fire some of the rooms in the dormitory have been used for class work. The session of 1904-1905 closed a short time ago, which is a very fortunate fact, as there might have been a repetition of the Rust Hall disaster had the dormitory been occupied by students.

The fire was discovered shortly before midnight, at which time the flames had gained considerable headway. Hezekiah Walden and F. H. Archer, teachers, their wives, and two children, and Joe D. Avent, a student from Murfreesboro, were in the building at the time it was discovered to be in flames. They were driven from the building by the rapid advance of the flames, going out into a heavy downpour of rain in their night clothing.

Avent was the last person to escape from the building, and was slightly burned about the hands and face. Avent said that the screams of other persons woke him up, and he could see the fire up above his window and in the hallway over the transom of the door to his room. He descended the stairway in the lead of a volume of fire, and as he was going down he stated that firebrands were falling thick and fast around him. He lost all of his clothing in the fire.

The Fire Department was notified at 11:50 o'clock of the blaze, and Engine Company No. 7 went to the scene to render assistance. With no water facilities, the firemen could do nothing to save the building, and for several hours the flames raged furiously, completely gutting the structure.

How the building caught fire is a mystery. It is thought that the blaze started on the west side of the fourth floor, and so far as known no one had had any fire in that part of the building recently.

The destruction of the building removes a link between the old and the new South. It was originally a plantation house, additions having been made since it became the property of the university. In the basement were cell-like apartments.

The loss is a very severe one to Roger Williams University, and will very greatly cripple the future work of the institution.

The university is run under the auspices of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, with headquarters in New York.

TO SAVE HIS LIFE

GILES COUNTY FARMER FORCED TO KILL TWO NEGROES.

GEO. BROWN AND HIS SON ED.

Shot by Henry Jackson, Whom They Were Attempting to Carve Up After a Quarrel—Verdict of Justifiable Homicide—Jackson Released.

PULASKI, Tenn., May 22.—(Special.) In an altercation yesterday about their crops between Henry Jackson, a white farmer of this county, and George Brown and his son Ed, two negroes, tenants of Jackson, the latter shot and killed both negroes.

An inquest was held to-day on the bodies of the negroes, and the jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

The proof showed that the quarrel started in a pasture near George Brown's house, and one of his daughters cursed Jackson and one of Brown's sons made violent threats against Jackson.

The latter went home and armed himself, but did not return to the scene of the quarrel, remaining at his own stable. George Brown soon came up and renewed the quarrel. Almost at once two young negroes, sons of Brown, appeared, declaring in unmistakable terms that they had "come for a killing." Then all three of the negroes set upon Jackson, using knives and slashing his clothing in many places.

Seeing that his life was in danger, Jackson drew his pistol and shot George Brown and his son, Ed, in quick succession. The other negro decamped in quick time and escaped unhurt.

After the jury returned its verdict Jackson was released from custody. He is the youngest son of Joseph S. Jackson, deceased, a wealthy land owner of this county.

ONLY VERY BEST OF GOOD FORTUNE PREVENTING IT

TERRIBLE DISASTER NARROWLY ESCAPED ON NEW YORK ELEVATED ROAD

THREE TRAINS WRECKED

ENDS OF SHATTERED CARS HANG FAR OVER SIDE OF HIGH STRUCTURE.

PANIC AMONG PASSENGERS

Twenty Persons Injured, Six So Seriously They Are Sent to Hospital—Turned Draw-Bridge the Cause.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Twenty persons were injured, six of them so seriously that they were sent to hospitals, and more than a hundred persons narrowly escaped death or serious injury to-day when a fast moving train crashed into two others on the high elevated structure on the Third avenue line at One Hundred and Thirty-third street and Alexander avenue.

Only the best of good fortune prevented a terrible tragedy. After the crash the ends of the shattered cars hung far over the side of the elevated structure at one of the highest points on the line. Had they moved a few inches more they would have pitched to the ground far below with terrible results.

Good fortune also kept the wrecked cars free from the heavily charged third rail. As they bounded from the track they rolled away from the deadly rail and settled down safely but insecurely at the most distant point possible on the narrow trestle.

Two trains were standing on the trestle waiting for the draw bridge over the Harlem River to close when a third train swung around a curve and crashed into them. The motor car of the third train and the rear car of the second train were smashed and thrown half around and the other cars were tossed about and some of them overturned.

Passengers were thrown to the floors of the cars and many of them were severely cut by glass. Men and women fought to escape from the cars, which they feared might pitch to the street below any minute. A fire alarm brought several ladder companies to the scene, but by the time they had arrived nearly every man who had been on the train had reached the ground by scrambling down the iron pillars which support the elevated structure. The firemen carried down several women and a number of persons who had been injured too severely to help themselves.

SIEGE OF VICKSBURG

Recalled by Dedication of Forty Monuments on the Field to Ohio's Dead.

VICKSBURG, Miss., May 22.—Forty monuments erected by the State of Ohio to its soldiers who fell in the siege of Vicksburg, were dedicated in the National Military Park here today. The services were largely attended. Gov. Herrick and staff, of Ohio, with a party of Union veterans from Ohio and the First Regiment of the Ohio National Guard, were cordially received. Gov. Herrick and Gov. Vardaman, of Mississippi, reviewed a procession of the Ohio and Mississippi guard this morning. Later, at the park, the dedicatory programme was carried out. An address by Gov. Herrick was listened to with marked attention and his reference to the "family quarrel" of those who wore the blue and the gray was loudly cheered.

The visiting Ohioans were tendered a barbecue this afternoon and a "camp fire" was held to-night.

GREAT RESERVOIR

Covering Seventy Acres to Be Constructed at Hopkinsville.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., May 22.—(Special.)—Charles Hermany, an engineer from Louisville, in company with J. H. Wilkerson, of Bowling Green, has been here on a trip of inspection, having been employed by the Hopkinsville Water Company to make plans for the large reservoir that the company is going to have built at once. Mr. Hermany says that the location and site selected for the reservoir are all that could be desired, and that it will have ample capacity to furnish water of a most excellent quality for a city twice as large as Hopkinsville. The reservoir will cover about seventy acres, and is expected to have a capacity of at least 175,000,000 gallons.

UNUSUAL VERDICT

Rendered by Jury in Case of Man Charged With Murder.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 22.—(Special.) Elbert Boyd, a young man who was to have been tried to-day at Blountville for the murder of Thomas Calloway at Bristol, was adjudged insane by a jury which heard testimony as to his mental condition. The jury's verdict provides that should he eventually recover he is to be tried for murder.

SERVIA'S CABINET CRISIS.

BELGRADE, Servia, May 22.—The Pasics Ministry has resigned. The Cabinet formed Dec. 11, 1904, under the Premiership of M. Pastes, resigned Feb. 6 last, in consequence of court intrigues against the Premier. The King requested the Ministers to retain office until he had conferred with the politicians and the Cabinet's resignation was withdrawn on Feb. 8.

AIR OF EXPECTANCY NOTED AT THE RUSSIAN ADMIRALTY

CLOSING OF STRIKE

SUBJECT OF FURTHER CONFERENCES AT CHICAGO.

LASTING LATE INTO NIGHT

Meanwhile the Authorities Take Every Precaution to Keep Down the Threatened Clash Between the Whites and Blacks.

CHICAGO, May 22.—After a conference lasting for three hours representatives of the teamsters' union and the employers declared at midnight that the prospects for the settlement of the strike are excellent and the end of the trouble may be looked for any time within the next forty-eight hours.

The stumbling block in the negotiations is the declaration by the express companies that none of their striking drivers will be taken back under any conditions. All other terms submitted by the employers to the strikers have been accepted. The managers of the express companies declared late this afternoon that while they would reemploy none of their drivers, they had no intention of keeping a blacklist and there would be no objection to any driver who secured a position with some express company other than the one by which he was employed at the time he struck. He would be given a position, it was asserted, if a vacancy existed at the time of his application. This phase of the strike was the only matter discussed at the conference to-night and in the opinion of all present it opened a way for a settlement and the negotiations will be continued to-morrow.

President Shea, of the teamsters, said to-night, after leaving the conference, that he considered the chances good for the settlement of the strike, and Attorney Mayer, for the employers, expressed similar views.

Despite this move for peace, the Lumbermen's Association are preparing for an extension of the strike. At a meeting of this organization to-night it was decided that to-morrow morning all teamsters employed by the sixty-five firms composing the association would compel their drivers to make deliveries of consignments to strike bound houses. Twelve of these firms enforced the order to-day and between 200 and 300 of the drivers quit work. The union officials say that the same thing will happen to-morrow if they are ordered to make deliveries to the boycotted firms.

"Arrest every man, black or white, who is found carrying a concealed weapon," was the order given to-day to all members of the police force. A systematic search was immediately commenced for negroes and white men armed with revolvers or other weapons. One of the first arrests was that of Matthew White, colored, who is said to be a strike breaker. He was fined $150, the maximum permitted by the law. The Magistrate announced an intention to inflict the maximum fine on every offender arrested.

Establishing a so-called "dead line" citizens to-day began systematically patrolling streets near the yards of the Peabody Coal Company, which employs a large number of colored strike breakers. The patrol is the latest results of murders and other violence growing out of the strike. The "dead line" was established at Wentworth avenue, property owners parading that street warning people of conditions on either side of the line.

The "riot district" is bounded on the north by Twenty-fifth street, and on the east by State street, on the west by Stewart avenue, and on the south by Twenty-fifth street. All of Wentworth avenue is deemed "white land," and all east is "black land." West of the white territory is the Peabody Company's yards.

The street generally used by the colored men on their way to the coal yard is Princeton avenue, and they are forced to pass the home of the family of Enoch Carlson, a school boy who was shot dead by negroes during a riot attending the delivery of coal at a public school. The boy's mother has the house barricaded, and will not allow any of her remaining children to venture outside the protection of the little home.

PEPPERED WITH SHOT

Bedford City, Va., Students Serenade Female Institution to Their Sorrow.

ROANOKE, Va., May 22.—A serenading party of thirteen students from the Randolph Macon Academy (male) at Bedford City, Va., were fired upon by persons in the Jeter Female Institute at that place early Sunday morning and five of the serenaders were peppered with shot from shotguns. One of the boys received a large number of shot in the face. It is alleged that the serenaders had been warned to stay away from the girls' institution. Sunday morning, when they appeared on the campus and started on their merriment, they were fired upon and it is said the guns were in the hands of members of the faculty. The boys returned the fire but did no damage.

Both institutions are outside the corporate limits and the town authorities have no jurisdiction. No arrests have been made. The names of the wounded students, none of whom is seriously hurt, cannot be obtained and the Jeter professors refuse to say who fired on the visitors.

WONDERS OF SCIENCE

Artificial Development of Eggs of Sea Urchin is Accomplished.

BERKLEY, Cal., May 22.—Prof. J. Loeb, the biologist of the University of California, has, it is claimed, succeeded in developing by artificial chemical means the eggs of the sea urchin so that the larva produced in the laboratory cannot be distinguished from the living forms produced during the process of natural fertilization. The order of events in the process of fertilization is in both cases the same. Dr. Loeb's new method is in every respect a complete imitation of natural fertilization.

INDICATES THAT NEWS OF IMPORTANCE FROM ROJESTVENSKY IS IMMINENT

REPORT FROM HONG KONG

SAYS FLEET HAS PASSED BASHEE CHANNEL, THUS GOING WIDE OF FORMOSA.

COUNTER MOVE ON THE LAND

St. Petersburg Believes That Linevitch is Preparing to Advance, Taking a Leaf Out of Oyama's Book.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 22.—There is an air of expectancy at the Admiralty which indicates that news of importance regarding Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet is awaited at any moment. Officially no information regarding the Admiral's whereabouts is volunteered, the officials making no concealment of the fact that they are not in the secret of Rojestvensky's plans, but the Admiralty entertain no doubt that the Russian fleet is now steaming towards its ultimate destination.

While there is no official confirmation of the Hong Kong report that the fleet has passed through the Bashee Channel, it is credited by those who have insisted from the beginning that Rojestvensky will give the island of Formosa a wide berth to the westward. The Admiral, it is claimed here, has had ample time to reach the Pacific since he left the waters of Indo-China. The dispatches received from the front are meager, but there are some indications that Gen. Linevitch has taken a leaf out of Field Marshal Oyama's book at the Shakhe River and at Mukden, and that he is about to advance himself, undertake a counter offensive, meeting the Japanese pressure against his left by advancing his right. It is too early, however, to determine whether the moves thus far are more than feints.

EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.

The question of a general exchange of prisoners, on which there has been some negotiations, is still unsettled. The Foreign Office here is not sanguine that a general exchange is possible. A partial exchange, covering the crew of the Russian volunteer fleet cruiser Ekaterinoslav, captured at the opening of the war, and the crew of the Japanese steamer Sabu, captured by the Russians, has practically been effected.

Gen. Linevitch, in a dispatch from the front, dated May 21, announces that two Russian detachments occupied the valleys of the Kaaka and Khanda Rivers, westward of Nanshental, on the Mandarin road, after dislodging forces of Japanese cavalry and infantry. The dispatch adds that Gen. Martinoff's detachment from Tadlu also drove back the Japanese advanced cavalry outposts.

Gen. Linevitch also reported fighting near Shahotse May 18, but did not give the result. He said a Russian detachment east of the railroad approached the village of Shahotse and was attacked by a considerable force of Japanese from the coal mines south of that place.

QUESTION OF INTERVENTION.

Unnecessary One, According to Japanese Statesmen Who Outline Terms.

TOKIO, Thursday, April 27.—Count Okuma, former Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, in a recent interview on the question of intervention, said that a great change in the lines of diplomacy of different powers being a natural outcome of the present war, it was difficult to make a prophecy. Increasingly closer relations between England and France was already one of the very significant phenomena resulting from the war. The Count declared that Germany could have no other feeling that satisfaction at finding her northern rival becoming gradually weakened by the war and would recognize the foolishness of antagonizing Japan if Germany could maintain and develop her interests in the Far East. Okuma saw no occasion for intervention unless a European conference could be formed, and he could not understand who would take the initiative so long as Germany did not suffer by the war. Germany, he asserted, was reaping benefits of various kinds, and would follow the policy of "get the best and as much as possible."

Count Kato, former Minister of Foreign Affairs and former Minister to Great Britain, discussing the same question, said:

NO FIXED PURPOSE.

"I do not think there will arise any occasion for intervention. I doubt if Russia has a fixed purpose and aim, either to fight or to conclude peace. It seems to me that the ultimate result is left to whatever the future may bring to Russia. There seems to be no prearranged plan.
